ENCLOSURES

The UKA 2008 handbooks have finally arrived

Updated Membership list for 2008

Kate Michell. Hon. Sec.

Good News

'Cedric wishes to express his thanks to all members and others including Staffordshire County Committee who were kind enough to make enquiries as to his health in what has been a difficult three months. He has taken particular notice of the comment from a certain party about standing close to cattle grids, but has decided he will walk with a pencil across his teeth when close to one. Seriously he is now 90% better after treatment and is improving daily ready for the coming season and looking forward to seeing you all again.'

New Report forms for the New Level 3

For all officials wanting to achieve the new Level 3 UKA have produced new Report forms to be used. These are available from the UKA website, if you dig deep enough! In addition, all present Level 3's and also Level 2's who are working towards Level 3 have to complete a record/self analysis sheet at each competition, this has to be signed by the referee on the day!

Level 5's will soon be seeing these at many/all meetings, so it might be useful to be familiar with the new format.

Don't be put off by the thought of having to trawl through the vagaries of the UKA site, read on below....

Andrew Hulse

goes ONLINE!

After recent discussions between members of the committee it was decided that perhaps the association should have a presence online. In a fit of stupidity I admitted to having had some experience in the past with the set-up and running of a site and that I would 'have a go'. The resulting initial attempt was seen by all members of the committee and several changes were made as a result of their observations. Before taking the decision to have this site hosted and purchasing a domain name (www.mafeo.co.uk). I would like everyone to be able to see and comment on the content and make any suggestions on what might be included if this does go ahead.
